

BusinessObjects XI: Implementing Business Views

Course Number: DM350

Who should attend?

The target audience for this course is Data Managers who are responsible for creating and maintaining Business Views. Depending on the organization, Data Managers may be represented by Database Administrators or Business Analysts.

Delivery and duration

Two-day instructor-led course

Course Agenda

Understanding Business Views

- Define Business Views
- Define the Business Views architecture
- Define the Business Views security model

Using Business Views

- Accessing Business Views
- Navigating with the Business View Manager

Managing Data Connections

- Create Data Connections
- Create Dynamic Data Connections

Managing Data Foundations

- Create Data Foundations
- Add and link data tables
- Apply row- and column-level security to Data Foundations
- Add formulas, SQL Expressions and parameters
- Use custom functions

Managing Business Elements

- Create Business Elements
- Modify Business Fields
- Apply row- and column-level security to Business Elements
- Add parameters

Managing Business Views

- Create Business Views
- Modify Business Views

Building Business Views

- Plan and build Business Views

Lists of Values and Dynamic Prompts

- Create and schedule lists of values
- Create and implement dynamic prompts